Meryl R. Lieberman, partner emerita and special counsel, has been appointed adjunct professor of law at New York Law School, her alma mater, teaching the inaugural insurance course Fall Semester 2021. Using her forty years experience in the industry, she has prepared an original syllabus touching on almost every aspect of the role of comprehensive general liability in today's global economy. She is also the Chair of the Litigation Section of the New York Law School - Venable Summer Simulation Program 2021 for students wanting a law firm summer experience focusing on emerging insurance coverage disputes. She is a trustee of the law school and continues to serve on its executive committee, budget committee, and academic affairs committee. She works closely with the school's First Generation Professionals, and she plays an active role in the school's diversity and inclusion efforts.
