Sarah Wilkins

PARTNER

Sarah focuses on insurance coverage as well as first-party liability claims, bad faith, construction defect, and general liability defense.

An partner in the firm's St. Petersburg office, Sarah Wilkins approaches every matter she works on with a meticulous attention to detail that never loses sight of the bigger picture. She achieves positive results for her clients through her ability to craft compelling arguments and her collaborative and cooperative spirit.

Sarah's practice focuses on insurance coverage as well as first-party liability claims, bad faith, construction defect, and general liability defense. Prior to joining the firm, Sarah worked as a law clerk for a Tampa firm that represents insureds in bad faith and insurance coverage litigation.

A graduate of the University of Central Florida, Sarah earned her law degree from Stetson University College of Law. She is admitted to the Florida Bar and serves as a volunteer for the Guardian Ad Litem Program of the Sixth Judicial Circuit for Pinellas County, advocating on behalf of children in the Florida dependency system.

When not serving clients or protecting the rights of children, Sarah enjoys spending time with her family and her dog, Charlie.
