David focuses his practice on appellate matters and strives to deliver excellent results efficiently.

David is a partner in the St. Petersburg office, where he focuses his practice on appellate matters. He is a skilled communicator and advocate who embraces each client's unique goals and expectations, achieving excellent results efficiently.

Before joining the firm, David worked at a large defense firm for nine years, where he developed an affinity for appellate practice while representing corporations and individuals in a varied set of contexts spanning from maritime disputes, insurance claims, and corporate transactions to jury trials and appellate oral arguments.

Originally from New Orleans, David and his family moved to Florida when he was ten. After leaving home for college and law school, David returned to the Gulf Coast in 2014, settling in the Tampa Bay Area, a region he loves for its natural beauty and ready access to the water.
