Frank E. Dylong, Jr.

PARTNER

Frank's practice principally involves the handling and defense of construction defect claims and litigation, both commercial and residential.

A Partner in the firm's St. Petersburg office, Frank Dylong prides himself on representing his clients with pragmatism and responsiveness, taking the time to understand their business, expectations, and specific goals in each case.

Frank handles commercial and residential construction defect claims and litigation throughout the state of Florida, representing general contractors and various building envelope trades such as stucco, window installers, and painters, as well as concrete flatwork. His construction practice spans a range of forums, including arbitration, mediation, and litigation. Frank endeavors to implement coherent and innovative strategies to bring about resolution of his cases.

A frequent lecturer and author on a wide range of insurance-related subjects, Frank graduated from Williams College before earning his law degree from the University of Miami School of Law. When not serving his clients, Frank enjoys spending time with his family.
