

April 27, 2021

Adam Krauss and Richard Traub Participate in FDCC and AIDA Program on Climate Change & Insurance Implications in 2021

Related Attorneys: Richard K. Traub

On April 27, Traub Lieberman Attorney Adam Krauss served as a panelist on an international webinar titled “Climate Change & Insurance Implications in 2021: A Time for Co-ordinated Universal Action?” Traub Lieberman Chair Emeritus Richard Traub served as an organizer of the event. The program was hosted by the Federation of Defense for Corporate Counsel (FDCC) and the Association Internationale de Droit des Assurances (AIDA), US Chapter.

The program featured a discussion of one of the most prevalent topics confronting the insurance and legal industries today. The Panel discussed:

- Climate Change & Insurance Implications: US focus
- Recent Litigation and Developments in Germany/Austria:
- Consideration of developments elsewhere | Q&A | Discussion of issues arising

Contributors from both sides of the Atlantic examined the most recent scientific and legal developments and discussed a range of possible solutions.